EDUCATION

The University of Auckland Auckland, New Zealand
Ph.D. Candidate, School of Computer Science November 2018 – October 2021 (expected)

- Supervisors: Jiamou Liu and Bakh Khoussainov

The University of Auckland Auckland, New Zealand
First Class Honours in Computer Science July 2017 – July 2018

- Dissertation: Network Building: Methodological Foundations and Algorithmic Analysis

Beijing Institute of Technology Beijing, China
Bsc in Computer Science & Technology August 2013 – June 2017

INTERNSHIP

Alibaba DAMO Academy Beijing, China
Research Intern September 2020 – January 2021

- I served as a principal contributor and programmer of a research project, where I proposed a novel framework that combines deep learning and bandit techniques to enhance the efficiency and accuracy of the recommender system. The paper is going to be published and a prototype is ready to be deployed to support online business.

RESEARCH INTERESTS

My main research interest lies in (deep) reinforcement learning in multi-agent systems. I aim to solve issues modelled as multi-agent systems from the learning and game-theoretical perspective. Along this line, my ultimate goal is to reinforce the insights into rules of applying reinforcement learning in conjunction with game theory. Very recently, my focus moves to reinforcement learning in games with tons of agents. I attempt to explore exciting results in such scenarios through combining reinforcement learning and the mean field theory.
